BOARD MEMBER BIOS: GAIL COHEN

Shalom! As a member of the Temple Emanuel community since 2003, I have loved being a part of it for many years. I have been active in the Sisterhood, serving on its Board and as Treasurer for several years. I am now serving for the first time on the Board of Governors and Executive Committee, as Board Secretary. It has been a rewarding experience so far, learning more about this community, and finding ways to get more involved. Co-chairing Mitzvah Day for the past 2 years has been a highlight for me!

Outside of the temple, I am on the faculty at Wake Forest Medical School, as an Associate Professor of Pediatrics. In this capacity, I love to teach medical students and residents in our general pediatrics clinic as well as the newborn nursery. But my favorite role there is working directly with patients and families at Brenner FIT, our pediatric weight management program.

Our family has truly grown up at Temple Emanuel. As we are getting ready to send our youngest off to college in the fall, we are grateful for all this community has done for our family. Our girls have become involved in the community through Religious School and BBYO and creating relationships through their many years at Camp Judaea and beyond.

Our lives in Winston-Salem have truly been enriched by our Temple Emanuel family, and we are glad to be able to call it our “second Jewish home.”

PRESIDENT VIVIAN SMITH

WHY?

Simon Sinek presented a TED talk titled, How Great Leaders Inspire. He realized that great leaders think, act and communicate in a manner which he refers to as The Golden Circle. The circle is comprised of 3 rings:

- The Center Ring is WHY they do what they do, their purpose, their beliefs
- The Middle Ring is HOW they do it
- The Outer Ring is WHAT they do.

Great leaders, and by extension, organizations, work from the center ring to the outer ring. People decide to engage (or not engage) with an organization primarily because of its WHY; not its HOW or WHAT. Simon uses Apple as an example of a great organization. Everything Apple does is based on its belief in challenging the status quo, in thinking differently. They do this by making beautifully designed, easy-to-use products...that the typical consumer previously never even thought they needed. The WHY, those thoughts and feelings we associate with Apple, are the mechanisms that greatly impact our consumer choices. According to Sinek, our brains rely on this input to make gut decisions.

So how do Jews living in our community decide to become or not become members of Temple Emanuel? Once engaged, how do they decide to continue or discontinue their relationship with our temple? I would suggest that even if we identify the best people (the HOW) to provide the best programs (the WHAT), our efforts to reach out and connect with non-affiliated Jews in our community will be strongest when accompanied by a clear statement of our WHY. In today’s readily-available online world, it is just so much easier to “participate” in a Jewish learning program, celebrate a b’nei mitzvah or pray on Shabbat without belonging to a synagogue. Although there are many positive elements associated with this development (i.e., access when sick, away from home), it also makes it more critical for our temple to communicate our WHY...our specialness.

In our March board meeting, I asked our board members to define Temple Emanuel’s WHY; in other words, what is our driving purpose, our beliefs? I felt we needed to clearly understand our WHY as a pre-requisite to developing our goals. This turned out to be a challenging, yet enlightening, exercise. Although we were quickly able to identify our WHAT (for example, Life Long Learning, Torah Study, Life Cycle Events, Religious School and Shabbat Services) and our HOW (for example, the Rabbi, Committees, Affiliate Organizations and Interfaith Outreach), clarifying our WHY was far more elusive.

Join us at our Annual Congregational Meeting on Sunday, May 19 at 9:15 AM in the Social Hall to contribute to this dialogue. I want to know from you what you think our WHY is? I look forward to seeing everyone in attendance.

Gratefully,
Vivian Smith, President, Temple Emanuel

Counting

We count.
As Jews. We count.
And we count a lot.
We count each other. And we count on each other.
As for numbers, you know I/we have a penchant for numbers.

Let’s start with counting Jews, which given superstition we don’t do for a minyan but manufacture creative means to determine if there are ten adult Jews in the room. Somehow when it comes to global counting the superstition fades. There are about 15-16 million of us across the globe (the vast majority almost evenly split between the U.S. and Israel) and yet our presence on the world stage far exceeds our paltry 0.2% of the world population (note: POINT2). And what we say counts. We keep tabs on each other. And we, despite our small numbers, pay close attention to what the other is saying – and sometimes, how little we like what the other is saying. And yet the most important number is always one. One people. One God. And lately, while we strive to be “am echad – one people” we are one people that is growing increasingly divided on matters of practice and Israel. But the truth is … in leaving Egypt, we weren’t necessarily so united as we came out “with a mixed multitude.” Perhaps it was not (just) a mixed group of travelers but a mixed group of voices and opinions. But we survived that journey and so many others – relying on each other and holding each other.

Divided and yet together we marched … to Sinai. To this day, we count the days of that march. And we counted each other leaving Egypt and repeatedly on our journey. So we have counted each other, counted on each other, and counted the days gone by with each other.

There are 7 days of Pesach (Passover) and 49 days of the Omer (the time period of counting between Pesach and Shavuot). Each day counts and is part of something larger as we commemorate our freedom with Y’tziyat Mitzrayim (Coming out of Egypt) and Matan/Kabbalat Torah (God giving and our receiving Torah at Sinai). Each day counts when we grapple with defining freedom. With the receiving of Torah, we came to learn that freedom comes with responsibility and privilege.

When you receive this bulletin, we will be mid-count of the Omer. Count using a very fun website with Homer Simpson. The Omer is a time of deep reflection and consideration as well. Whether you have been counting for a long time or it is a new practice for you, I invite you to consider the Omer counter from Rabbi Jonathan Sacks, one of the greatest teachers of our era. These days are for us, as Jews, to consider who and how we are – as a people – divided and yet necessarily together on our way to Sinai and beyond. May our journey help us grow personally and communally. And may we remain united even in our divisions.

B’Shalom,
Rabbi Mark

Reflections

The end of the school year approaches, and I can hardly believe it; time has flown by! Wasn’t it just yesterday that Alan and I arrived in Winston-Salem?! Our Religious School welcomed new students—those who were new to our congregation—as well as those who were already part of our family, now finally ready to come to school on Sunday mornings.

Our Purim Carnival, coordinated by BBYO, brought fun, food and friends together for a Purim-perfect afternoon.

We had a dedicated group of madrikhim—those teens who join us on the weekend to help guide and teach those younger. Six delightful young adults joined us on Sunday mornings to spend time helping in a myriad of ways. They are outstanding role models.

Our students, teachers, and madrikhim are delightful, and it’s always a bit sad for me to consider the summer months when they won’t be around all the time.

I am eternally grateful to Andy Meltzer, Kate Irwin-Smiler and the entire Education Committee for the energy, dedication and caring for our students they exhibit at all times. This wonderful group of volunteers—Debbie Clayman, Ceci Davis, Lisa Emmerich, Vaso Ekstein, Adam Friedman, Laura Gold, Yasmine Jaffe, Meredith Petersen, Lynn Segal, and Shayna Thiel all bring to our committee congregational history and engagement at Temple Emanuel. They are a diverse group of people to be certain, but they have the best interests of our children at heart at all times.

When it comes to the children of Temple Emanuel, there is nothing this group won’t do! They celebrate each accomplishment of an individual youngster or class, and kvell when they can witness firsthand just how wonderful our students are.

With these wonderful partners, we’ve already begun to look ahead to next year. We are in the process of considering new ventures for our Religious School in the weeks ahead. Our summer will be full of energetic planning. We don’t stop for a minute!

When you get a chance, please say a word of “thanks” to our Education Committee and our Religious School teachers; we certainly can’t do what we do nearly as well without their participation, guidance and support.

L’Shalom,
Debi
LIFELONG LEARNING

Saturdays, May 11, 18, 25, June 1 9:00-10:30 AM, The Lamed Center

Can text study of Biblical stories and their diverse interpretations empower us to engage more constructively in disagreements today?

At the core of the traditional beit midrash, study hall, are havrutot, study pairs, critically studying together mahloket, conflicting opinions, found on every page of classic Jewish texts. This methodology of studying text can be used to increase the desire and ability to understand and engage more constructively with conflicting political opinions today, improving civil discourse.

Taught by Rabbi Mark Cohn. This 5-part series culminates with Shavuot study on Saturday, June 8. A program offered by the Pardes Institute of Jewish Studies.

May 11 – Fear War or Trust Peace? From Jacob and Esau through Chamberlain and Menachem Begin to Today
May 18 – Xenophobia or National Security? From Pharaoh and the Israelites through Japanese Internment to Today
May 25 – Coexist or Separate? From Isaac and Ishmael to Israelis and Palestinians Today
June 1 – Fake News* or Uncovering the Truth? From Joseph and his brothers through Jefferson and Hamilton to Today

This program has been funded by donations to Rabbi Mark’s Discretionary Fund, targeted for temple programming.

SISTERHOOD

A Message from Sisterhood President Jackie Friedman

Sisterhood members, led by Lori Baydush, had a great time preparing lasagna for Purim! Also, we helped organize a deep clean of the kitchen area and appliances just in time for Passover.

We wrapped up the year on May 11 celebrating the beautiful artwork of Naomi Greenberg, whose art has graced our New Year’s Greeting Cards for the past several years. Naomi shared her insight and explained her process of creating the art pieces. The Sisterhood Gift Shop will be selling notecards featuring Naomi’s designs. Please keep our gift-shop in mind for gift items and for wrapping paper and cards.

Watch for announcements for events next August, including a planned Kitchen Shower to replace serving items that have become chipped and worn over time. Sisterhood also continues to have funds available for need-based scholarship to attend Jewish based camps and programs. Thank you for your continued support! !

Shalom and see you at services!

THE MAVENS (Senior Programming)

Each of our monthly Mavens meetings begin with chair yoga at 11:00 in the Temple Social Hall, led by Neal Haberman. It is 45 minutes of relaxing and helpful, gentle yoga, catered to our abilities. Bring a bag lunch. Desserts and beverages are provided by Mavens. Enjoy social time around the tables before the program begins.

Thursday June 13: Gayle Goldsmith Tuch will share her talk titled There Are Solutions to Climate Change. Gayle is a Temple Emanuel congregant who leads TEEM (Temple Emanuel’s Environmental Movement) which has offered a monthly environmental film and speaker series for 12 years. Gayle is a local attorney who has an interest in Environmental law. When an environmental law concern arises, she has the knowledge and experience to analyze complex issues and promote cost-effective ways to address hazardous conditions.

The Mavens summer outing for paid-up members will be Sunday, July 28. We will carpool to the Yadkin Cultural Art Center’s Willingham Theater in Yadkinville and enjoy a matinee performance of Newsies. To be eligible for a theater ticket, at no cost to you, please pay your 2019-20 Mavens dues of $18.00 per person at the May 9 Mavens Lunch and Learn. We have 45 tickets reserved. The musical was inspired by the real-life Newsboys Strike of 1899 in New York City. The show has music by Alan Menken, lyrics by Jack Feldman, and a book by Harvey Fierstein.

L’Dor V’Dor Program with local Jewish college students.
Our Mavens group enjoyed a Matzoh Brie brunch with Hillel at Wake Forest University on Sunday, April 21. This was our last L’Dor V’Dor program for the year. We played games, talked, and enjoyed a wonderful spirit of inter-generational camaraderie. We look forward to continuing this program next year with local Jewish college students.

This program is funded in part with a grant from BJH Foundation.

Support from our Community

As we remembered our beloved who died in the Holocaust and in resisting the terror of the Nazis, a young student from the Wake Forest Divinity School stood up to read a letter from her classmates. The letter was written in the wake of the shooting at the Poway Chabad Congregation and in solidarity with the Jewish community.

Dear Rabbi Mark Cohn & Temple Emanuel Community:

We send humble greetings and condolences to Rabbi Mark Cohn & the Temple Emanuel Community in wake of the shooting at Congregation Chabad Synagogue that recently occurred.

We, as people of faith, mourn with you in the wake of this act of hate. You are in our hearts, as we pray for peace domestically and abroad, for the mourning and suffering Jewish community.

Psalm 46:1-3 reads, as translated in the English Standard Version:

G-d is our refuge and our strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore, we will not fear, though the earth gives way, though the mountains be moved into the heart of the sea, though its waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble at its swelling.

As people of various social locations, we unite and stand in solidarity with you, knowing what it has been like to be oppressed and/or attacked due to some aspect of our identity. We will be praying for the Jewish community here at Temple Emanuel, as well as the Jewish community domestically and abroad. We stand with you, we see you, & we love you!

In Love and In Solidarity:

Preschool loves springtime! We work in the gardens, play outside more, and we love our spring celebrations!

For Purim we had more fun than you can shake a grogger at! In fact, we made goggers, and masks and crowns, we had a fun parade and celebration with Rabbi Mark and Miss Debi, sang songs, and did our best to drown out the name of the evil Haman!

For Passover, we worked on seder plates and Miriam’s/Elijah’s cups. We made our own matzah, and had a mini seder as well!

We are also busy with registration for the summer and fall. Preschool summer camp goes from June 24th through August 2nd.

Fall session begins at the end of August. There is limited room available for the 3 and 4 year old classrooms, and multiple spots in 1 and 2 year old rooms. Contact Colleen Lemer at (336) 722-6640, ext 109, for more info.

Thank you Babysitters!!!
Like all good neighbors, we help each other. Temple Emanuel and Highland Presbyterian Church babysit for each other during our High Holy Days and at Christmas and Easter. On Easter Sunday, temple members Gail Ballin, Marsha Strauss, Regina Lobree, Ellen Newman, and Jennis Rosen were very good neighbors with Highland’s youngest members. Thanks!!!.
